Dear Mr. Riggins,

During my last twenty years in business, I have written three endorsement letters. In each case, the vendor's performance was so extraordinary, I was compelled to comment.

This is the case with your company. As you know, my personal experience with building contractors has not been good. My experience with your company has been the exception.

The new facility you built for my company is beautiful. The craftsmanship is first class, you finished the project on time and under budget, and your response to our punch list has been first rate. Overall I couldn't be more pleased.

Tom Riggins' management of the project does credit to himself and to your organization. He was able to deal very effectively with our time constraint problems and handled our special regulatory constraints with great calm and efficiency. His work is very much appreciated.

Please feel free to use me as a reference in the future.

Sincerely,

Daniel B. Guinn
